

The Advanced Home Energy Analysis and Report will give you:

- Analysis of historical gas and electric use
- Walk-through energy inspection, noting opportunities to reduce energy use and costs
- Review of opportunities to reduce energy consumption and utility bills
- A simple payback analysis on recommended conservation or efficiency measures that cost over $100
- Notification of potentially hazardous situations and unsafe appliance options.
- Analysis of energy use patterns, with estimate of major appliance energy consumption, and benefits of improving appliance energy efficiency
- Blower door tests
- Thermal scans to identify building air leaks and insulation needs
- Combustion safety tests on fuel burning equipment

To encourage participation in our Advanced Home Energy Audit program (AHEAP), ComfortSystems will reimburse customers $150 of the cost of an AHEAP audit and Minnesota Power will reimburse customers $100 toward the cost of the audit if your home uses natural gas from ComfortSystems.

The AHEAP energy report can be used to qualify for our low-interest Home Energy Loan Program (HELP). HELP can provide you with a low interest loan of up to $30,000 for single family homes and up to $15,000 per unit for multi-family units.

Schedule your AHEAP inspection by calling a participating contractor from the list below. The participating contractor will explain how the program works, negotiate a price for the audit on your single family residence, and schedule the audit with you. Audit prices for the Advanced Home Energy Audit can vary due to the size of your home, the expertise of the audit contractor, and the availability of the auditor to do the work. ComfortSystems advises customers to contact a few of the contractors on the list to learn about the services they will provide to you, the cost, and when they could schedule an audit of your home. To schedule your Advanced Home Energy Audit call one of the participating contractors from the list below:
